Mayor Morris was in the Council champhis and the council of the council of the council champhis and the council of the man at that he cannot afford to peopardize others.

down hard.

Mayor Morris was in the Council chamber and when the nine Republicans stood as a man against the continuation, he was seen to turn paic and red in turn.

It is said that there was not a member of the majority that intended his vote as a personal rebuke to Mayor Morris, but they wanted that gentleman to know that the people of Sait Lake City do not proces to have so important an office as the clerk of the Board of Health opass into the hands of such a character as Jackson. The expression was pointedly against the would-be clerk.

It is not known whether Mayor Morris will continue to press his nomination of Jackson. He will be advised to name another man. His friends have assured him that there is no possible chance of getting Jackson through. The Republicans have no possible use for the man. They do not oppose him on political grounds. Jackson was personally objectionable and public pressure was so strong against the

He became ill several days ago in the midst of the New Year's festivities. Ordinarily illness among the Chinks would have immediately terminated the celebration. But even though he saw the beek-college of the great Confucius, he raised a feeble protest and ordered the other Orientals to proceed with the event.

Men wise in the lore of herbs and science were summoned to his bedside. Dr. Hop was ago Mark Pune has assisted the Chinese, remained constantly with him and for days suffered no cessation in the welf dincantations which were offered to the god of health in his fight with the demon spirits. Herbs and ointments in wanton profusion were used to allay the ravages of the evil one, but without avail Mark grew constantly weaker, until yesterday, when he expired.

A strange hieroglyphic was at once posted on his door and wild, discordant expressions of grief were walled throughout Chinatown. Men bowed before the wooden god and offered presents of rice and hop to appease its wrath against the spirit which had gone. Women chanted a doleful tune, pulling their braids and mingling their waits with the unspeakable noises of many Chinese musical instruments.
